PROFILES IN SERVICE

Betty Canon (90 years old) and Carrie Moore (85 years old) are two of the most valuable assets of the First Baptist Church Garden. Each has many years of gardening experience and knowledge in planting, weeding, and harvesting. The garden could not operate without them.

Just because someone is a senior citizen, doesn't mean they can not provide help and expertise to the Church garden. Gregg County Master Gardener Roger Sage, Sr. (88 years old) also contributes by managing the flowerbeds in the garden. All three of these garden workers have sound minds, great work ethics, and are willing to study and learn everything they can about better gardening. They help produce more pounds of fresh food for the garden and help create a beautiful atmosphere throughout the garden.

These three gardeners contribute much of their good health to their diets of fresh green food from the garden and the exercise they get when gardening.

A truth that we all can learn from them is that Christian service does not stop with age!
